MELLON LETS COUZENS DO THE THEORIZING

SAYS SURTAXES DRIVING CAPITAL OUT OF BUSINESS

MELLON AND COUZENS, TWO OF RICHEST MEN IN NATION, IN ARGUMENTS

MELLON'S LETTER TODAY REPLIES TO COUZENS' MISSIVE OF JANUARY 18TH

Congress Today
By United Press

Senate—Not in session.
Teapot Dome inquiry continues.
House.—
Considering interior department appropriation bill.
Muscle Shoals hearing continues.
Tax legislation consideration in ways and means committee continues.

Washington, Jan. 25.—Replying in a sharp letter to Senator Couzens in which Secretary of the Treasury Mellon today declared that Couzens could theorize all he pleased but that the fact is indisputable that high surtaxes are driving capital out of business into idleness.

Mellon's letter was the latest in a series being exchanged between him and Couzens in which they, two of the richest men in the country, are debating the merits of the Mellon tax plan, particularly its provisions for lowering surtaxes on big incomes.

Couzens declares this is a scheme to relieve the very rich of paying taxes.

Mellon says present taxes are driving money into the tax free securities and are hitting business and government revenues.

Mellon's letter today was in reply to one Couzens wrote him on January 18th.

In his last letter Couzens said Mellon had been forced to abandon his position regarding high surtaxes. This Mellon denied today.

"By some unique process of reasoning" he said "you announce that I have abandoned my propositions that high surtaxes are becoming less productive of revenue. While in my last letter to you I did not repeat word for word what I said in my first—there must be some progress to correspondence—still I applied your particular case to these same propositions and showed how in your case their correctness was established. If this to you be abandonment then to you my letters are vain."

Couzens tries to answer the railroad's need for stock investment by the usual diametric political argument against them Mellon said. "High surtaxes" he said "simply means a bonus to municipalities by giving their securities an artificial value."

"This both encourages the municipalities to extravagance and brings into existence in this country a large mass of wealthy forever unreachable for the support of our government."

Mellon denied Couzen's charges that confidential treasury records had been used by Mellon in discussing Couzen's incomes and his securities holdings.

"Everybody knew that Couzens sold his holdings in the Ford Motor company" Mellon said, and it was equally well known that before he sold he got big dividends from them which accounted for a large source of his income tax.

"The case is really too plain for argument" said Mellon summoning up his arguments against high surtaxes."

Resuming the stand before the crowded court room eager to witness the struggle of Assistant District Attorney Pecora to elicit from Anderson the address and identity of his donor, the state superintendent wanted further details of the mysterious John T. BRANDED CASE AS A MENACE TO ALL 'SACRED HOMES'

ALBERT R. LELAND GIVES TESTIMONY IN DIVORCE SUIT IN CHICAGO

CONSIDERING IT DUTY AS CHRISTIAN TO DRIVE SUCH MINISTERS OUT OF CHURCH

(By United Press)

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Branding Rev. Carl D. Case as a menace "to sacred homes," Albert R. Leland, who named the pastor as co-respondent in his suit for divorce, today demanded that Dr. Case be driven from the ministry. "I consider it my duty to my faith as a Christian and to my creed as a Baptist to drive men as Dr. Case out of the church," Leland declared.

"He must not be given another chance to do to other men and women what he has done to me and my wife".

Leland told through tears of his wife's confession accusing the deacons of the First Baptist church of plotting to "white wash" the pastor of complicity in his wife's misconduct.

He charged that they tried to bribe him to say that his wife was insane.

Calm and imperturable, Mrs. Leland waited to go on the stand. She is held by her firm belief that "God has me in His hand. He will not desert me in time of adversity".

A plain little woman, modestly dressed she sits with bowed head before the curious gaze of the crowded court room awaiting her turn to take the stand. She will admit with willingness she said that she broke her marriage vows in order that the Rev. Case whom she says is "equally guilty" will suffer equally.

Close by her side sits her 17 year old son almost hopelessly puzzled by the strange drama in which his father and mother are chief characters. Across the table sits the Rev. Case. He is well past middle age. His eyes are dim and his body is shaken by the tragedy that has come upon him while somewhat deaf he holds a small trumpet to his ear and strains to catch every word spoken by the witnesses.

His wife has declared her confidence in her pastor husband and sits defiantly by his side.

Around the pastoral family crowded closely in the small court room sit the deacons and elders of the church. The official church board which has voted its complete confidence in their pastor listen attentively to the testimony, certain that their pastor's name will be cleared.

Mrs. Leland was to testify today. She was to be asked to confirm or repudiate her confession of misconduct with the pastor.

"I am calm" she said "calm because I know that I am telling the truth and I know that God has me in His hand. He will not desert me in time of adversity. He has given me courage to go on."

Will Crucify Herself

The drama presents the strange situation of the unassuming little Mrs. Leland being prepared to crucify herself so that she may have a clean conscience.

While attorneys for the Rev. Case are expected to endeavor to prove the woman of unsound mind and therefore not responsible for her confession, Mrs. Leland is happy because of the testimony of Dr. Thor Rothstein an alienist who yesterday told the court he had given Mrs. Leland a thorough examination and could not see that she is insane.

"This woman is highly emotional and intensely religious" he said. 'I believe she would be easily influenced especially by such a person as her pastor but her mind is clear and sound".

Wife's Confession Bared

Leland in his testimony told of extracting from his wife a confession of intimacies with Rev. Case. He said that his wife "admitted going as far as she could with the pastor four or five times". Rev. Case denied all the charges.

"I hope to take the stand and have it over with today" he said.

"The strain of being in the crowded court room of striving to hear the witnesses has been very great".

"It is the work of a deluded woman's imaginings and I have every confidence that my name and the name of the church will be brought through it all unstained."

WOMAN CLAIMS SHE IS THE PRINCESS OLGA OF RUSSIA

HER ARRIVAL AND CLAIM AROUSING DEEP INTEREST IN BRAZIL

BEARS A STRONG RESEMBLANCE TO PRINCESS, BELIEVED DEAD

(By United Press)

Rio de Janeiro, Jan. 25.—The arrival of a woman who says she is Princess Olga, daughter of the late Czar of Russia is arousing interest throughout Brazil.

The woman, bearing a strong resemblance to photographs of the princess—long believed dead—tells a plausible story. She says she escaped into Germany with the aid of a few faithful Cossacks and followed by Bolshevics, made her way finally to Holland where she supported herself by dancing.

The woman exhibited deep scars on her breasts which she says were inflicted by the Bolshevics.

She worked in Holland for some time but was forced to disguise herself when Bolshevic agents learned her whereabouts.

"I managed to get aboard the steamer Antonio Delfino and made my way to Santos, Brazil, and then worked for some time in Sao Paulo before coming to Rio De Janeiro."

The woman is able to tell a convincing story of life in the Russian courts, details of the influence of Rasputin and his death and other incidents which have lead newspaper men here to accept her story.

She speaks perfect English, French and German besides Russian.

Baird, a union miner, was taken from the jail at Jasper, Ala., on January 13, 1921, by masked men and shot to death.

He had been arrested for killing a guardsman who had previously killed Baird's father-in-law, Jesse Northcutt.

BOK PEACE CONTEST RULED BY 3 WOMEN; ONE WAS DICTATOR

DISTINGUISHED MALE SUPPORTERS OWED JOBS TO TRIO OF WOMEN

REED INTERROGATES MISS LAPE, A MOST EFFICIENT DIRECTOR OF PLAN

Washington, Jan. 25. — The great Bok peace prize contest was managed by two matrons of social distinction and one highly educated and most efficient spinster.

Elihu Root, Colonel E. M. House, Brand Whitlock, William Allen White and other distinguished male supporters of the League of Nations who served as members of the policy and award committees of the Bok enterprise owed their jobs to these three women.

This fact was disclosed in the following colloquy between Senator J. A. Reed of Missouri and Miss Esther E. Lape, before a senate committee Wednesday.

Senator Reed—Coming to the question of primary organization, I want to be sure that I understand it. Mr. Bok selected you in the first instance as the woman who was to be in charge of it. That is correct, is it?

Miss Lape—Yes.

Senator Reed—You selected Mrs. Vanderlip and Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt?

Committee Chosen by 3 Women

Miss Lape—Yes.

Senator Reed—Then you three women selected the members of the policy committee. You did that without suggestions from Mr. Bok, did you?

Miss Lape—Yes.

Senator Reed—But there was nobody that suggested a particular name and the name put on in pursuance of that suggestion?

Miss Lape—Positively not.

The only question as to the manner in which Mr. Root was actually selected as chairman of the committee of awards was developed in the examination of Miss Lape.

Witness Contradicts Bok

In guarded testimony before the committee on Monday, Mr. Bok said he had suggested Mr. Root as chairman of the awards committee. Miss Lape, who proved to be one of the most interesting witnesses examined by a congressional committee in a long time, differentiated from Mr. Bok's statement to the extent of asserting that Mrs. Frank Vanderlip, Mrs. Franklin and herself had proposed Mr. Root for the honor.

In every other step in the history of the great $100,000 peace prize contest, Mr. Bok was portrayed by Miss Lape as the casual but fully informed financial backer of the enterprise. In the two hours that Miss Lape was the focus for 300 pairs of eyes, divided on the ratio of three to two in favor of her own sex, she was a model of feminine efficiency.

"Implication" Resented

At one period when the Missouri senator was trying to induce Miss Lape to admit that in selecting the members of the jury which awarded Mr. Bok's split prize of $100,000 for the best peace plan, the "member in charge of it resented what she termed "an implication" that she was "trying to pack the jury with League of Nation judges." Mr. Reed politely disclaimed any such purpose, but nevertheless continued to search the agile mind of the woman sitting three feet in front of him with annoying persistence.

After establishing the fact that Miss Lape had selected Mrs. Vanderlip and Mrs. Roosevelt as the first members of the policy committee who with herself in turn selected the other members, Mr. Reed relentlessly plied her with questions on this point.

He wanted to know if Miss Lape herself was not a supporter of the League of Nations. She answered, "Not at first, but afterward for it with reservations." Didn't Miss Lape know that Senator Root was one of the chief apostles of the league? Answer: Miss Lape did not know at the time Mr. Root was selected as chairman of the awards committee.

How about Colonel House?

A.—She knew that the colonel was a League of Nations fan.

Regarding the ethical features involved, Miss Lape was less satisfactory. She declined to enter into a discussion of the proprieties involved in staging the peace contest and referendum as a means of influencing congress in favor of the League of Nations. She attempted and generally succeeded in making it clear that her chief responsibility was in getting results.

The job of organizing the enterprise was turned over to her by Mr. Bok with adequate funds to pay expenses and she asserted she had confined herself to conducting it on a business basis.

TROTSKY PAYS TRIBUTE TO LENIN

"IN OUR MOURNING CLOSE OUR HEARTS AND RANKS TO NEW COMBATS"

(By United Press)

Moscow, Jan. 25.—"In our mourning let us close our ranks and our hearts for new combats," Leon Trotsky, Russian war minister, wrote in a remarkable tribute to his dead comrade, Nicolai Lenin.

The tribute was cabled from Tiflis where Trotsky is ill and published today.

It read:

"How shall we now proceed along our path, comrades?

"Shall we not wander now that Lenin no longer is with us?

"No. Leninism remains. Lenin is immortal in his work and his method and example shall live in the party he created.

"He was the head and the helmsman.

"Our grief is as great as our loss but thank history for permitting us to have been born as contemporaneous of Lenin. Our party is Leninism in action. Everyone of us contains something of Lenin. With the light of Leninism in our hand we shall follow the true road by collective thought and collective will."

WILL TAKE THE WITNESS STAND EARLY MONDAY

COL. SEVELY, SINCLAIR REPRESENTATIVE, QUIZZED THIS AFTERNOON

FALL REPORTED TO BE A VERY SICK MAN, GIVES OUT NO INTERVIEWS

(By United Press)

Washington, Jan. 25.—Here is the statement Albert B. Fall will be called on Monday to explain to the senate committee investigating Teapot Dome. It is taken from testimony Fall gave before the committee December 27th:

"It should be needless for me to say that in the purchase of the Harris ranch or in any other purchase or expenditures I have never approached E. L. Doheny or any one connected with him or any of his corporations or Mr. Sinclair or any one connected with him or any of his corporations nor have I ever received from either of said parties one cent on account of any oil leases or upon any other account whatsoever."

Fall, who arrived in Washington about 11 o'clock last night from New Orleans to undergo an ordeal of cross examination never before faced by an American cabinet officer or former cabinet member, will take the witness stand Monday, according to present plans.

Colonel J. W. Sevely, Washington representative of Harry F. Sinclair, rival of Doheny and lessee of the Teapot Dome, will be quizzed this afternoon.

The committee wants to know what Sinclair did with $80,000 of Sinclair Oil company stock and $25,000 worth of liberty bonds given to him.

Testimony has been that Sevely got this to buy a house on Long Island. Sevely accompanied Fall to Washington from New Orleans and Fall, after trying in vain to elude the newspapermen waiting for him, went to Sevely's house for the night.

Slipping into the capitol shortly before midnight, Fall was examined by his physician, Dr. John Wharton.

After the examination, Dr. Wharton said:

"Mr. Fall is suffering from a malady that any moment may take his life. He is a very sick man. I hope and feel sure that he will insist on apearing before the senate public lands committee on Monday to answer any charges against him."

Fall hobbled into Sevely's house on a cane. His face was shrunken and he said: "Boys, I am a very sick man and I have nothing to say," as he went in.

"Did you wish to answer intimations that you received an additional $100,000 in connection with the leases?" he was asked.

"I do not know anything about that," Fall said.

"Some intimations seems to have been given that another $100,000 was loaned to you."

"Boys, I can't say anything now."

The committee is not satisfied with the testimony of Edward L. Doheny who yesterday said that he had loaned $100,000 to Fall on a personal note without security in November, 1921.

None of the members of the committee would indicate whether they intend to reject or accept Doheny's proposal that President Coolidge appoint three experts to determine whether his leases on naval oil reserves numbers one and two in California are lawfully and honestly negotiated. They want to hear Sevely and Fall first.

With tears in his eyes at the memory of Fall's "hard luck," Doheny told the committee the whole transaction was purely a piece of friendship. He described himself as an old man with a big heart and an open hand who had told his friend Fall

Washington, Jan. 25. — The great Bok peace prize contest was managed by two matrons of social distinction and one highly educated and most efficient spinster.

Elihu Root, Colonel E. M. House, Brand Whitlock, William Allen White and other distinguished male supporters of the League of Nations who served as members of the policy and award committees of the Bok enterprise owed their jobs to these three women.

This fact was disclosed in the following colloquy between Senator J. A. Reed of Missouri and Miss Esther E. Lape, before a senate committee Wednesday.

Senator Reed—Coming to the question of primary organization, I want to be sure that I understand it. Mr. Bok selected you in the first instance as the woman who was to be in charge of it. That is correct, is it?

Miss Lape—Yes.

Senator Reed—You selected Mrs. Vanderlip and Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt?

Committee Chosen by 3 Women

Miss Lape—Yes.

Senator Reed—Then you three women selected the members of the policy committee. You did that without suggestions from Mr. Bok, did you?

Miss Lape—Yes.

Senator Reed—But there was nobody that suggested a particular name and the name put on in pursuance of that suggestion?

Miss Lape—Positively not.

The only question as to the manner in which Mr. Root was actually selected as chairman of the committee of awards was developed in the examination of Miss Lape.

Witness Contradicts Bok

In guarded testimony before the committee on Monday, Mr. Bok said he had suggested Mr. Root as chairman of the awards committee. Miss Lape, who proved to be one of the most interesting witnesses examined by a congressional committee in a long time, differentiated from Mr. Bok's statement to the extent of asserting that Mrs. Frank Vanderlip, Mrs. Franklin and herself had proposed Mr. Root for the honor.

In every other step in the history of the great $100,000 peace prize contest, Mr. Bok was portrayed by Miss Lape as the casual but fully informed financial backer of the enterprise. In the two hours that Miss Lape was the focus for 300 pairs of eyes, divided on the ratio of three to two in favor of her own sex, she was a model of feminine efficiency.

"Implication" Resented

At one period when the Missouri senator was trying to induce Miss Lape to admit that in selecting the members of the jury which awarded Mr. Bok's split prize of $100,000 for the best peace plan, the "member in charge of it resented what she termed "an implication" that she was "trying to pack the jury with League of Nation judges." Mr. Reed politely disclaimed any such purpose, but nevertheless continued to search the agile mind of the woman sitting three feet in front of him with annoying persistence.

After establishing the fact that Miss Lape had selected Mrs. Vanderlip and Mrs. Roosevelt as the first members of the policy committee who with herself in turn selected the other members, Mr. Reed relentlessly plied her with questions on this point.

He wanted to know if Miss Lape herself was not a supporter of the League of Nations. She answered, "Not at first, but afterward for it with reservations." Didn't Miss Lape know that Senator Root was one of the chief apostles of the league? Answer: Miss Lape did not know at the time Mr. Root was selected as chairman of the awards committee.

How about Colonel House?

A.—She knew that the colonel was a League of Nations fan.

Regarding the ethical features involved, Miss Lape was less satisfactory. She declined to enter into a discussion of the proprieties involved in staging the peace contest and referendum as a means of influencing congress in favor of the League of Nations. She attempted and generally succeeded in making it clear that her chief responsibility was in getting results.

The job of organizing the enterprise was turned over to her by Mr. Bok with adequate funds to pay expenses and she asserted she had confined herself to conducting it on a business basis.

TROTSKY PAYS TRIBUTE TO LENIN

"IN OUR MOURNING CLOSE OUR HEARTS AND RANKS TO NEW COMBATS"

(By United Press)

Moscow, Jan. 25.—"In our mourning let us close our ranks and our hearts for new combats," Leon Trotsky, Russian war minister, wrote in a remarkable tribute to his dead comrade, Nicolai Lenin.

The tribute was cabled from Tiflis where Trotsky is ill and published today.

It read:

"How shall we now proceed along our path, comrades?

"Shall we not wander now that Lenin no longer is with us?

"No. Leninism remains. Lenin is immortal in his work and his method and example shall live in the party he created.

"He was the head and the helmsman.

"Our grief is as great as our loss but thank history for permitting us to have been born as contemporaneous of Lenin. Our party is Leninism in action. Everyone of us contains something of Lenin. With the light of Leninism in our hand we shall follow the true road by collective thought and collective will."

WILL TAKE THE WITNESS STAND EARLY MONDAY

COL. SEVELY, SINCLAIR REPRESENTATIVE, QUIZZED THIS AFTERNOON

FALL REPORTED TO BE A VERY SICK MAN, GIVES OUT NO INTERVIEWS

(By United Press)

Washington, Jan. 25.—Here is the statement Albert B. Fall will be called on Monday to explain to the senate committee investigating Teapot Dome. It is taken from testimony Fall gave before the committee December 27th:

"It should be needless for me to say that in the purchase of the Harris ranch or in any other purchase or expenditures I have never approached E. L. Doheny or any one connected with him or any of his corporations or Mr. Sinclair or any one connected with him or any of his corporations nor have I ever received from either of said parties one cent on account of any oil leases or upon any other account whatsoever."

Fall, who arrived in Washington about 11 o'clock last night from New Orleans to undergo an ordeal of cross examination never before faced by an American cabinet officer or former cabinet member, will take the witness stand Monday, according to present plans.

Colonel J. W. Sevely, Washington representative of Harry F. Sinclair, rival of Doheny and lessee of the Teapot Dome, will be quizzed this afternoon.

The committee wants to know what Sinclair did with $80,000 of Sinclair Oil company stock and $25,000 worth of liberty bonds given to him.

Testimony has been that Sevely got this to buy a house on Long Island. Sevely accompanied Fall to Washington from New Orleans and Fall, after trying in vain to elude the newspapermen waiting for him, went to Sevely's house for the night.

Slipping into the capitol shortly before midnight, Fall was examined by his physician, Dr. John Wharton.

After the examination, Dr. Wharton said:

"Mr. Fall is suffering from a malady that any moment may take his life. He is a very sick man. I hope and feel sure that he will insist on apearing before the senate public lands committee on Monday to answer any charges against him."

Fall hobbled into Sevely's house on a cane. His face was shrunken and he said: "Boys, I am a very sick man and I have nothing to say," as he went in.

"Did you wish to answer intimations that you received an additional $100,000 in connection with the leases?" he was asked.

"I do not know anything about that," Fall said.

"Some intimations seems to have been given that another $100,000 was loaned to you."

"Boys, I can't say anything now."

The committee is not satisfied with the testimony of Edward L. Doheny who yesterday said that he had loaned $100,000 to Fall on a personal note without security in November, 1921.

None of the members of the committee would indicate whether they intend to reject or accept Doheny's proposal that President Coolidge appoint three experts to determine whether his leases on naval oil reserves numbers one and two in California are lawfully and honestly negotiated. They want to hear Sevely and Fall first.

With tears in his eyes at the memory of Fall's "hard luck," Doheny told the committee the whole transaction was purely a piece of friendship. He described himself as an old man with a big heart and an open hand who had told his friend Fall

TWELVE TO ONE

A simple rule.

Easy to remember and easy to practice, yet over half the trouble in burning coal is caused by violation of this rule. The rule is—it requires 12 pounds of air properly mixed with every pound of coal for complete combustion.

Only about 8 pounds of air can come up through the fire; consequently, about 4 pounds of air, which is a lot of air, must be brought in over the fire.

Now, CONSOLIDATION ELKHORN and ZEIGLER NUT are fool-proof coals—they will burn in almost any kind of a furnace under almost any kind of conditions—because they are 95% pure combustible material, contain less than 3% ash, and their gases are rich in combustible elements. Just try this wonder fuel on our recommendation.

TWELVE TO ONE

A simple rule.

Easy to remember and easy to practice, yet over half the trouble in burning coal is caused by violation of this rule. The rule is—it requires 12 pounds of air properly mixed with every pound of coal for complete combustion.

Only about 8 pounds of air can come up through the fire; consequently, about 4 pounds of air, which is a lot of air, must be brought in over the fire.

Now, CONSOLIDATION ELKHORN and ZEIGLER NUT are fool-proof coals—they will burn in almost any kind of a furnace under almost any kind of conditions—because they are 95% pure combustible material, contain less than 3% ash, and their gases are rich in combustible elements. Just try this wonder fuel on our recommendation.

CONCERT A MOST GRATIFYING SUCCESS

"PRINCE OF PEACE" CANTATA

Clara Lutheran Choir of 20 Voices and Soloists on Program

The concert given Tuesday evening at the Clara Lutheran church for the benefit of the Health Service society of the Northwestern hospital was a gratifying success.

The main feature of the program was the cantata "The Prince of Peace" given by the Clara Lutheran choir of more than twenty voices. The accompanist and director, Mrs. August Samuelson, deserves much credit for the production. The choir disclosed a sureness and heartiness in their singing and brought out artistically contrasts in the music.

Two choruses, one for men's voices only and one for ladies' were very effective and the grand closing number was a fitting climax.

The solos were all well given. The soloists were at ease and the enunciation in every case was pleasingly clear. Those taking solo parts were Misses Bertha Olson, Jennie Beck and Bernice Samuelson and Messrs Rudolph Lindberg, Ole Olson and Walter Parsons. The violinist playing an obligato part was Kenneth Brackner.

The members of the chorus were:

Sopranos: Alma Molgren, Bertha Olson, Anna Carlson, Sigrid Carlson, Myrtle Headman, Isabelle Westphal, Dagmar Johnson, Margaret Anderson, Bernice Samuelson.

Altos: Jennie Beck, Agnes Sundine, Hazel Westphal, Elsie Hedlund, Mrs. Lillie Whitlock.

Tenors: Rudolph Lindberg, John Holvick, Harry Molgren, Ed. Wang.

Basses: Ole Olson, Walter Parson, Fred Molgren.

In addition to the cantata, other features gave pleasing variety to the program.

The splendid pipe organ in this church was used for the opening solo by Mrs. Louis Knudsen.

During an intermission in the cantata Miss Alice Johnstone, violinist, gave two delightfully contrasting numbers—one the Paderewski Minuet and the other an appealing, tender lullaby which Miss Johnstone played with exquisite tone. Mrs. Johnstone accompanied her in her usual musicianly manner.

O. M. Risberg followed with two xylophone solos. This soloist is a very popular addition to programs and with Miss Marion Opsahl his accompanist, entertained the audience with numbers showing cleverness and teamwork.

The pastor of the church, Rev. August Samuelson, gave a short address on music and charity. Rev. O. L. Bolstad offered prayer and read the scripture and at the close of the concert Mrs. W. F. Dieckhaus who is president of the Health Service society explained the organization and purpose of the society. She thanked most heartily the people of the church who donated the lighted and heated building for the concert and the others who had exhibited in large measure the commendable spirit of charity in giving their time and talent that this benefit might be a musical and financial success.

Magnus Called Down For Tardiness; Tells Norris He's No Novice

Washington, Jan. 25—Senator Magnus Johnson of Minnesota was called down by Senator G. W. Norris of Nebraska, chairman of the committee on agriculture, for wasting the committee's time.

The trouble arose when Senator Johnson, who arrived late, requested Ben Marsh to repeat charges Marsh had made against Secretary of Agriculture H. C. Wallace, President Coolidge and members of the committee.

Senator Norris complained that Senator Johnson does not attend the hearings regularly and should not waste its time in asking witnesses to repeat testimony already given. Senator Johnson responded rather heatedly that he had been in legislative bodies long enough to know how to conduct himself.

"THE SHEPHERD'S CALL" IS TITLE

Home Talent Play Written by E. H. Perry to be Given for Benefit of Y. M. C. A.

PARK THEATRE FEB. 18, 19

Mr. Perry, An Actor of Experience, Is Directing Play Presentation

The cast has been chosen and rehearsals started for the home talent play, "The Shepherd's Call" to be put on at the New Park theatre February 18th and 19th, as a benefit for the local Y. M. C. A.

E. H. Perry, of the Perry Hardware Co., himself an actor of considerable experience, is directing this play. In fact Mr. Perry wrote the play, a four act drama, himself, while touring the state of Montana some twenty years ago, with a theatrical company.

The two principal characters in "The Shepherd's Call," the shepherd and the village schoolma'm,, Mr. Perry took from real life. So well is this play thought of, that it has been leased by stock and repertoire companies all over the United States, including the Grace Haywood Co., of Minneapolis who played it two seasons.

Mr. Perry has been cast in important and difficult parts with several New York and Chicago companies traveling from coast to coast, including "The Girl of the Golden West," "The Divorce Question, (In which he carried the part of the dope fiend for two season) "In Panama," "St. Elmo, "East Lynne," "Our Village Postmaster," and "Kidnaped for a Million."

So interested is he in theatricals that he recently organized the Home Players Dramatic Club in Brainerd, for the purpose of staging home talent plays for local benefits.

The club's first offering is "The Shepherd's Call." This benefit for the Y. M. C. A. is a most worthy cause and one that, it is felt, will receive a hearty response from Brainerd people.

Oak Valley Farmer Improperly Convicted

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Jan. 25.—Roger Marsh, Oak Valley farmer, was improperly convicted of abduction.

The supreme court today reversed the Ottertail county court which upheld his conviction. May 4, 1923, Marsh is alleged to have taken his cousin, Lena Hendershot, 17, from a restaurant at Wadena where she was working and to have gone with her to the northern part of the state. The fact that he did not attempt to make a public prostitute of the girl takes the case out of the category of abduction, the supreme court held.

Marsh is married and has several children.

Another Popular Hot Dish

By Helen Harrington Downing

"I shouldn't be bothering you with a call at this time of the evening,—I know you're busy getting dinner,—but am on my way to meet John on his way from the office. We're going to have dinner down town tonight," said Elizabeth to her just a little older and more domesticated sister, Helen.

"Come into the kitchen, and we'll talk while I finish the dumplings," said Helen.

"Do you know," said Elizabeth, "we are both actually tired of eating at home lately. I'm simply running out of ideas—and I suppose we're tired of eating at home because I don't have enough variety. That's just why I stopped tonight. I was sure you could suggest something."

"You see what I am having tonight," said Helen, as she lifted the lid from the kettle on the stove, to show Elizabeth. "What is more delicious on a cold night than a beef or veal stew, with light, tender dumplings, or home made noodles. Have you made any lately? If you haven't I'd suggest that you surprise John with some real soon."

"I've tried them once," said Elizabeth, a little doubtfully, "and they weren't very good."

"Don't be discouraged," said Helen, "if they haven't raised when you made them before—or if they were heavy—just try my recipe."

Two pounds of boiling beef is sufficient. Cut in small cubes and cook slowly in four cups of cold water for an hour. To this add your dumplings. Here is a secret I learned from a friend. Don't thicken the gravy until the dumplings are done, as they don't cook well in a thick gravy, though many people don't know this. Remove the dumplings before thickening the gravy and return them after it is thickened.

Dumplings

2 cups flour
2 level teaspoons baking powder
½ level teaspoon salt
⅔ cup milk
1 quart beef stock, steaming hot but not boiling

Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt. Add milk slowly, mixing with a knife until a soft dough is formed. Quickly drop by spoonsful into the steaming beef stock. Place on kettle a lid which fits tightly and steam for fifteen minutes. If the beef stock boils the dumplings break apart. Thicken stock by mixing four tablespoons flour with one-half cup cold water. Remove dumplings to a warm bowl and add the flour mixture to hot cooked stock. Boil for two minutes or until it is slightly thickened. Serve hot over the dumplings with the beef or without.

"Or, if you would prefer noodles, here is a recipe, which is a good one. They are easily made and can be kept for some time if you make an extra supply. You may add them to any vegetable soups or stew," said Helen.

Noodles

2 eggs
About 2 cups flour
½ level teaspoon salt

Beat the eggs and salt, and slowly add enough flour to form a stiff dough that may be kneaded without sticking to the board. Knead for ten minutes on a floured bread board. Roll out very thin, in fact, just as thin as possible. Cover with a cloth and let stand for thirty minutes in a cool place. Roll up loosely, over and over, and cut into strips one-eighth of an inch thick. Let dry another hour and then cook for twenty minutes in boiling soup. If the noodles are desired for gravy, creamed meat or any other thick mixture, cook them first for 20 minutes in boiling, salted water. They are then done, and may be merely reheated in the food with which they are to be served.

Elizabeth made careful note of the recipes and directions, and arose to go. "Your dinner looks delicious," she said, "and I'm going to surprise John tomorrow."

Mr. Lancing's case is typical of thousands of others. He found permanent relief from constipation in Kellogg's Bran because it is ALL bran. Nothing but ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. Read what he says:

Dear Sir:

I have been afflicted with constipation for the past 15 years, and during that time I have been in four different hospitals and submitted to five different operations that were the result of constipation. I was getting so bad that every meal I ate soured on my stomach. Two months ago I was advised to eat your Kellogg's Krumbled Bran. I tried it, as I was trying everything I could hear of. From that day on I have never taken a physic. My stomach does not sour any more and my bowels move regularly morning and evening. Yours sincerely,
Frank Lancing,
1306 Jefries Ave., Marion, Ind.

For permanent relief, eat Kellogg's Bran regularly. Two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. It is guaranteed to bring results, or your grocer will return your money.

You will like the delicious nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran—so different from ordinary brans, which are unpalatable. Eat Kellogg's Bran with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in the recipes given on the package.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is served by leading hotels and clubs in individual packages. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

Magnus Called Down For Tardiness; Tells Norris He's No Novice

Washington, Jan. 25—Senator Magnus Johnson of Minnesota was called down by Senator G. W. Norris of Nebraska, chairman of the committee on agriculture, for wasting the committee's time.

The trouble arose when Senator Johnson, who arrived late, requested Ben Marsh to repeat charges Marsh had made against Secretary of Agriculture H. C. Wallace, President Coolidge and members of the committee.

Senator Norris complained that Senator Johnson does not attend the hearings regularly and should not waste its time in asking witnesses to repeat testimony already given. Senator Johnson responded rather heatedly that he had been in legislative bodies long enough to know how to conduct himself.

"THE SHEPHERD'S CALL" IS TITLE

Home Talent Play Written by E. H. Perry to be Given for Benefit of Y. M. C. A.

PARK THEATRE FEB. 18, 19

Mr. Perry, An Actor of Experience, Is Directing Play Presentation

The cast has been chosen and rehearsals started for the home talent play, "The Shepherd's Call" to be put on at the New Park theatre February 18th and 19th, as a benefit for the local Y. M. C. A.

E. H. Perry, of the Perry Hardware Co., himself an actor of considerable experience, is directing this play. In fact Mr. Perry wrote the play, a four act drama, himself, while touring the state of Montana some twenty years ago, with a theatrical company.

The two principal characters in "The Shepherd's Call," the shepherd and the village schoolma'm,, Mr. Perry took from real life. So well is this play thought of, that it has been leased by stock and repertoire companies all over the United States, including the Grace Haywood Co., of Minneapolis who played it two seasons.

Mr. Perry has been cast in important and difficult parts with several New York and Chicago companies traveling from coast to coast, including "The Girl of the Golden West," "The Divorce Question, (In which he carried the part of the dope fiend for two season) "In Panama," "St. Elmo, "East Lynne," "Our Village Postmaster," and "Kidnaped for a Million."

So interested is he in theatricals that he recently organized the Home Players Dramatic Club in Brainerd, for the purpose of staging home talent plays for local benefits.

The club's first offering is "The Shepherd's Call." This benefit for the Y. M. C. A. is a most worthy cause and one that, it is felt, will receive a hearty response from Brainerd people.

Oak Valley Farmer Improperly Convicted

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Jan. 25.—Roger Marsh, Oak Valley farmer, was improperly convicted of abduction.

The supreme court today reversed the Ottertail county court which upheld his conviction. May 4, 1923, Marsh is alleged to have taken his cousin, Lena Hendershot, 17, from a restaurant at Wadena where she was working and to have gone with her to the northern part of the state. The fact that he did not attempt to make a public prostitute of the girl takes the case out of the category of abduction, the supreme court held.

Marsh is married and has several children.

Another Popular Hot Dish

By Helen Harrington Downing

"I shouldn't be bothering you with a call at this time of the evening,—I know you're busy getting dinner,—but am on my way to meet John on his way from the office. We're going to have dinner down town tonight," said Elizabeth to her just a little older and more domesticated sister, Helen.

"Come into the kitchen, and we'll talk while I finish the dumplings," said Helen.

"Do you know," said Elizabeth, "we are both actually tired of eating at home lately. I'm simply running out of ideas—and I suppose we're tired of eating at home because I don't have enough variety. That's just why I stopped tonight. I was sure you could suggest something."

"You see what I am having tonight," said Helen, as she lifted the lid from the kettle on the stove, to show Elizabeth. "What is more delicious on a cold night than a beef or veal stew, with light, tender dumplings, or home made noodles. Have you made any lately? If you haven't I'd suggest that you surprise John with some real soon."

"I've tried them once," said Elizabeth, a little doubtfully, "and they weren't very good."

"Don't be discouraged," said Helen, "if they haven't raised when you made them before—or if they were heavy—just try my recipe."

Two pounds of boiling beef is sufficient. Cut in small cubes and cook slowly in four cups of cold water for an hour. To this add your dumplings. Here is a secret I learned from a friend. Don't thicken the gravy until the dumplings are done, as they don't cook well in a thick gravy, though many people don't know this. Remove the dumplings before thickening the gravy and return them after it is thickened.

Dumplings

2 cups flour
2 level teaspoons baking powder
½ level teaspoon salt
⅔ cup milk
1 quart beef stock, steaming hot but not boiling

Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt. Add milk slowly, mixing with a knife until a soft dough is formed. Quickly drop by spoonsful into the steaming beef stock. Place on kettle a lid which fits tightly and steam for fifteen minutes. If the beef stock boils the dumplings break apart. Thicken stock by mixing four tablespoons flour with one-half cup cold water. Remove dumplings to a warm bowl and add the flour mixture to hot cooked stock. Boil for two minutes or until it is slightly thickened. Serve hot over the dumplings with the beef or without.

"Or, if you would prefer noodles, here is a recipe, which is a good one. They are easily made and can be kept for some time if you make an extra supply. You may add them to any vegetable soups or stew," said Helen.

Noodles

2 eggs
About 2 cups flour
½ level teaspoon salt

Beat the eggs and salt, and slowly add enough flour to form a stiff dough that may be kneaded without sticking to the board. Knead for ten minutes on a floured bread board. Roll out very thin, in fact, just as thin as possible. Cover with a cloth and let stand for thirty minutes in a cool place. Roll up loosely, over and over, and cut into strips one-eighth of an inch thick. Let dry another hour and then cook for twenty minutes in boiling soup. If the noodles are desired for gravy, creamed meat or any other thick mixture, cook them first for 20 minutes in boiling, salted water. They are then done, and may be merely reheated in the food with which they are to be served.

Elizabeth made careful note of the recipes and directions, and arose to go. "Your dinner looks delicious," she said, "and I'm going to surprise John tomorrow."

5 Operations—15 years suffering with constipation—Kellogg's Bran restores health

Mr. Lancing's case is typical of thousands of others. He found permanent relief from constipation in Kellogg's Bran because it is ALL bran. Nothing but ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. Read what he says:

Dear Sir:

I have been afflicted with constipation for the past 15 years, and during that time I have been in four different hospitals and submitted to five different operations that were the result of constipation. I was getting so bad that every meal I ate soured on my stomach. Two months ago I was advised to eat your Kellogg's Krumbled Bran. I tried it, as I was trying everything I could hear of. From that day on I have never taken a physic. My stomach does not sour any more and my bowels move regularly morning and evening. Yours sincerely,
Frank Lancing,
1306 Jefries Ave., Marion, Ind.

For permanent relief, eat Kellogg's Bran regularly. Two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. It is guaranteed to bring results, or your grocer will return your money.

You will like the delicious nut-like flavor of Kellogg's Bran—so different from ordinary brans, which are unpalatable. Eat Kellogg's Bran with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in the recipes given on the package.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is served by leading hotels and clubs in individual packages. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

ANOTHER WAR REARING ITS HEAD

IT is unusual to get war talk from a man striving for peace, but Frederick J. Libby, executive secretary of the National Council for the Prevention of War, sees war brewing with Germany and Russia the storm centers, providing there is no world tribunal where these nations can get justice, as he terms it.

Another war, said Mr. Libby, with the new death-dealing methods of science, would mean the end of white civilization on the earth. He praised the Bok plan and claimed it the best method for peace yet devised.

"It provides a world parley," said Mr. Libby, "similar in general plan to the old New England town meeting. Advocates of a League of Nations have complained that the Bok plan takes out the coercion clause from the League of Nations plan; that it in effect takes the teeth out of the agreement. In place of the coercion clause the Bok plan offers a method whereby the nations of the earth can talk over, like individuals of the New England town meeting, their differences.

"Germany and Russia are nations of a hardy people. They will endure and will thrive again. In ten years they will demand a change in the terms of the Versailles treaty, terms so bad that the United States would not sign the treaty that included them.

"When that time comes," continued Mr. Libby, "if there is no tribunal of justice to which they can resort, Germany and Russia will again take to arms and the world will be plunged in a conflict more awful than the last. Such is the prospect ahead. We stand between war's cemetery with 10,000,000 graves behind and an abyss of greater conflict, the very end of white civilization threatened."

NORTHERN MINNESOTA EDITORIAL ASSOCIATION

THE Northern Minnesota Editorial association meets in Wadena for the week end, discussing "shop" and craft improvement to the fullest extent. An excellent program has been prepared. Brainerd people who know the editors by contact with them at their summer convention here last year, know the editors will work just as hard as they played and they wish the convention a large measure of success.

The topics to be discussed are all important ones. The editor who remains away from the session does so only because of force of circumstances and not because he does not wish to go. There will be election of officers and a decision on the summer meeting place. At Brainerd last year, while banqueted at Breezy Point, many expressed the wish to have their 1924 summer outing at Breezy Point.

GRIFFITH, A PUBLISHER

E. C. GRIFFITH, who over 20 years ago was city editor of the Brainerd Dispatch at a time when it was a four-page, six-column, hand-set and boiler plate edition, coming here from Fargo, N. D., has now become general manager and publisher of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, one of the Hearst publications.

From Brainerd Mr. Griffith went to St. Cloud where he was city editor of the St. Cloud Times for a period. Later he spent seven years in the Twin Cities and Chicago and Milwaukee. He was in the advertising department of the Minneapolis Tribune, later with a Grand Forks paper and then on the Chicago Daily News, then in general advertising field, followed by being advertising director of the Washington Times and Washington Herald.

THE AUTO BEAUTY SHOW

THE beauty show, featured by the Twin City Automotive Exposition, will be an impressive event. Fifteen of the pretty girls of the Northwest will appear in a dream of pulchritude. "Miss Brainerd Dispatch" will be personified by Miss Irene Turcotte.

On Saturday, January 26, the Dispatch will print the pictures of the fifteen beauty queens in a half page electrotype. Compare the various types and in your mind's eye pick out the winner of the sweepstakes prize. The prettiest girl of the fifteen gets a trip to the Atlantic City Boardwalk Beauty Show and if she cannot make the trip will gain a $500 prize.

SHOP IMPROVEMENTS

SHOP improvements such as contemplated by the Northern Pacific railway company mean much for Brainerd. The building of the power plant and other structures will give employment to many men. The construction of the power house, as reported, is so planned as to add to the convenience of handling power so as to gain the maximum results.

With the shops as the backbone of the city's industrial life, shop extension and improvement is something that indirectly affects all interests and every citizen of Brainerd.

WHERE TAX BURDEN RESTS

THE tax burden, like water, eventually finds its common level and in the end rests on the broad shoulders of the ultimate consumers, the common people. As stated by the Newcastle, Ind., Courier, don't let any politician fool you with the assertion that he has a plan to tax somebody else. It can't be done. In the end, every tax is distributed over the population of the country, and the only way to get relief is to repeal the tax.

NEWSPAPER spelling varies. For instance, the Minneapolis Journal, that greatest paper of the Northwest edited by Hershel V. Jones, spells the dead Russian premier's name "Lenine." The no less scholarly Duluth News Tribune, whose managing editor is Charles R. Adams, late secretary of Governor Preus, spells the Russian's name "Lenin." The United Press and the Associated Press agree on "Lenin."

THE DISPATCH next week will start publication of the personal property tax list. Every one reads it to find his own tax and then to see what the other fellow pays.

FALL TO FACE ORDEAL OF RIGID CROSS EXAMINATION

when he needed money "come to me."

He regarded it about as other men would regard a five or ten dollar loan, he said.

A little later Doheny said he confidently expected to make $100,000,000 out of one of the California naval oil reserve leases granted him by Fall.

Fall was confined to his bed later today by orders of his physician, John Wharton. Dr. Wharton said there was congestion in Fall's chest and a high fever due to a freshly contracted cold.

Wharton said he hoped Fall would be sufficiently recovered by Monday to appear before the senate investigating committee.

A statement issued by Dr. Wharton said:

"Upon examination this morning I find that Mr. Fall has developed congestion in the chest and is suffering from a severe cold contracted on his journey from New Orleans.

"He has a fever and I have ordered him to remain in bed for the time being."

N. Sinclair, brother of Harry F. Sinclair today arrived in Washington and asked the senate investigators to permit him to testify.

Harry Sinclair is in Europe and the brother who is associated with him in the oil business believes he can explain some of the "mysteries" of Sinclair's financial transactions which have developed in the investigation into the leasing of Teapot Dome.

SENATE COMMITTE WANTS REAL PROOF

Washington, Jan. 25.—The senate public lands committee investigating Teapot Dome will demand absolute proof of the truth of the story told by E. L. Doheny, millionaire oil man, of a $100,000 loan to Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior.

Both Fall and Doheny must submit conclusive evidence to the committee that their testimony is accurate, committee members said today, as the committee prepared to continue delving into the amazing loans to the man who controlled the leasing of vast national wealth in the form of oil in the naval oil reserves of the west.

PARKER IS COOLIDGE MANAGER IN IOWA

Chicago, Jan. 25—Appointment of Addison M. Parker of Des Moines as Iowa manager of the Coolidge campaign in that state, was announced today by James W. Good, western manager of the Coolidge preconvention campaign.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94% AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent air and 6 per cent common kerosene (coal oil.)

The inventor, J. E. Johnson, 609 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $20 to $500 per month.

Getting Too Fat? Try This—Reduce

People who don't grow too fat are the fortunate exception. But if you find the fat accumulating or already cumbersome, you will be wise to follow this suggestion, which is endorsed by thousands of people who know. Ask your druggist for Marmola Prescription Tablets and follow directions. One dollar is the price the world over. Get them from your own druggist or send price direct to Marmola Co., 4612 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich. By doing this you will be safe from harmful drugs and be able to reduce steadily and easily, without starvation diet or tiresome exercise.

Night coughing—

exhausts you so that you are more tired in the morning than when you went to bed. Dr. King's New Discovery stops coughing by gently stimulating the mucous membranes to throw off clogging secretions. It has an agreeable taste. All druggists.

Wharton said he hoped Fall would be sufficiently recovered by Monday to appear before the senate investigating committee.

A statement issued by Dr. Wharton said:

"Upon examination this morning I find that Mr. Fall has developed congestion in the chest and is suffering from a severe cold contracted on his journey from New Orleans.

"He has a fever and I have ordered him to remain in bed for the time being."

N. Sinclair, brother of Harry F. Sinclair today arrived in Washington and asked the senate investigators to permit him to testify.

Harry Sinclair is in Europe and the brother who is associated with him in the oil business believes he can explain some of the "mysteries" of Sinclair's financial transactions which have developed in the investigation into the leasing of Teapot Dome.

SENATE COMMITTE WANTS REAL PROOF

Washington, Jan. 25.—The senate public lands committee investigating Teapot Dome will demand absolute proof of the truth of the story told by E. L. Doheny, millionaire oil man, of a $100,000 loan to Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior.

Both Fall and Doheny must submit conclusive evidence to the committee that their testimony is accurate, committee members said today, as the committee prepared to continue delving into the amazing loans to the man who controlled the leasing of vast national wealth in the form of oil in the naval oil reserves of the west.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94% AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent air and 6 per cent common kerosene (coal oil.)

The inventor, J. E. Johnson, 609 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $20 to $500 per month.

Getting Too Fat?
Try This—Reduce

People who don't grow too fat are the fortunate exception. But if you find the fat accumulating or already cumbersome, you will be wise to follow this suggestion, which is endorsed by thousands of people who know. Ask your druggist for Marmola Prescription Tablets and follow directions. One dollar is the price the world over. Get them from your own druggist or send price direct to Marmola Co., 4612 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich. By doing this you will be safe from harmful drugs and be able to reduce steadily and easily, without starvation diet or tiresome exercise.

Night coughing—

exhausts you so that you are more tired in the morning than when you went to bed. Dr. King's New Discovery stops coughing by gently stimulating the mucous membranes to throw off clogging secretions. It has an agreeable taste. All druggists.

FIRE DOES SOME $40,000 DAMAGE

E. O. Webb Building Damaged and Tenants Suffer High Losses

TEMPERATURE 22 BELOW

Water Damages Basements and Stocks of Many Nearby Buildings

Fire at 2:30 o'clock Friday morning is said to have caused about $40,000 damages to the Cosmo billiard parlor, John Carlson & Son's clothing store, and adjacent buildings, which suffered from smoke and water.

The flames are thought to have started around the furnace in the basement of the Cosmo billiard parlor, and had gained considerable headway before they were discovered. They quickly spread to the walls and partitions eating their way into the clothing store and to the second floor although they were brought under control before they did any damage in these quarters.

The billiard parlor was damaged most by fire. The basement extended from the front about half way back, and this portion of the first floor burned through and fell into the basement.

James Koukis, the proprietor of the billiard parlor, carried a large stock of candies, cigars, cigarettes and tobaccos, also operating a lunch room in the front portion of his store room, all of which went into the basement when the floor fell.

The John Carlson & Son's clothing store suffered a very heavy loss from water and smoke. The fire in the walls and ceiling made it necessary for the firemen to carry their hose lines into the store and their attention was centered there for some time.

James Koukis and a family by the name of Dillon lived above the clothing store and the billiard parlor. Their loss was from smoke and water only, the flames being confined to the walls and in the partitions.

It was necessary to use so much water that many basements were flooded, including those of the Olympia Candy Kitchen, E. H. Jones and John Bye, doing much damage to merchandise stored therein. Also to the west into the basement of the Dunn Drug Co.

The building is owned by E. O. Webb and was remodeled only last summer, a new modern front being put on. It is familiarly known as the Sleeper Block and was damaged by fire some fifteen years ago, when the Dispatch was located on the second floor. John Carlson suffered a heavy loss at that time, also, his clothing store occupying quarters in the building.

Friday morning's fire loss was well covered by insurance, it is stated. There is well over $20,000 carried on the clothing stock, $12,800 on the James Koukis property. The loss is estimated at about $8,000 to the building, $10,000 to the billiard parlor and nearly double that amount to the clothing store.

The fire department is to be complimented on its quick action and efficient manner in which the flames were combated. The water pressure is said to have been of the very best, but with the thermometer registering 22 below zero, it worked a hardship on the firemen. John Carlson furnished dry clothing to the men as often and as fast as it was needed.

E. O. Webb is spending the winter in California. He is expected to arrive in San Francisco this afternoon, where it is hoped he can be reached and notified of his loss.

Later it was ascertained that the tenants on the second floor included Mr. and Mrs. Benson, Mr. and Mrs. Greenlaw and Floyd Thompson. The Greenlaw's lost their personal effects in the Anna block fire several weeks ago, and their furniture was badly damaged in the fire this morning. Floyd Thompson is a linotype operator on the Dispatch force. He succeeded in saving most of his property.

BRAINERD CHORAL SOCIETY NOTES

At 8 o'clock this evening the Brainerd Choral society meets for its weekly rehearsal. A note of unusual intensity is at this moment being sounded throughout the city. It is hoped that every singer will hear it. A thrilling appeal is expected to accompany it. Its tone is intended to be of the lingering type. The effect is designed to cause every singer in Brainerd to meet with every other singer in Mr. Brown's studio in the Iron Exchange hall at the above specified time. Substitute the word "Invitation" for the word "Note" in the second sentence and re-read this article.

The chorus is beginning to do some very excellent work. If you find any pleasure at all in singing and can sing in tune with other voices you are urged to take advantage of this your greatest opportunity to become intimately acquainted with some of the best music ever written. At the same time you are aiding in a very constructive work in your city. Remember the time, the place, and the occasion.

Twenty Met at Court House to Discuss Conditions, Eggs, Dairy Products, Etc.

ORGANIZATION FORMED

William Ostby President, Leonard Swanson Vice President, Philip Rudek Secy.-Treasurer

Twenty disabled veterans, who are training on farms in the Brainerd district, met on Monday at the court house for the purpose of studying marketing conditions with regard to eggs, truck and dairy products.

A temporary organization was formed with William Ostby, president, Leonard Swanson, vice president and Philip Rudek, secretary-treasurer.

The veterans agree that there is no object in producing these products unless they can be assured of a good market for them. The Brainerd community produces more poultry products than it can consume, they claim, therefore an outlet to eastern markets must be sought, and this will be one of the principal aims of the new organization.

Seven and a Half Ton Truck, Plus Plow and Weight, Amounted to 18 Tons Weight

A bad drift on the road near Fort Ripley was dug out by a seven and a half ton Sterling truck plus plow and load making 18 tons weight, used by Red Bus line yesterday. The snow was about three feet deep, packed solidly in the drift, and it took tremendous power to lift it out. The stretch was half a mile long. In addition the men faced the blizzard of last night and then nearly ran out of gasoline.

A swath fully the width of the highway was cut and if winds do not fill it again, the pathway will be kept open for continuous traveling. The Red Bus line is now the only bus running between Minneapolis and Brainerd and is doing its best to continue its service, conforming to its schedule wherever humanly possible.

Buses are being shuttled along the St. Cloud-Brainerd section to keep the line open and continue schedules.

N. B.—For recommendation of grades of Polarine to use in tractors and trucks, consult chart in any Standard Oil Co. (Indiana) station

A sale of the wrong grade of Polarine would reflect not only upon the reputation of this Company but would do an injustice to the manufacturer of the car as well.

For all grades of Polarine are made to specification. The blue print of the engine lies side by side with the chemical formula in the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) laboratory.

Always remember that it pays to ask, "Who made this oil?"

You cannot see the quality of a lubricating oil—you must take somebody's "say-so."

Polarine is manufactured by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). The Company recommends Polarine for every type and make of car.

The Company is proud of its reputation and proud of its record of service and of the fact that 60% of the motors running today in the ten Middle Western States are lubricated with Polarine.

GIBBONS WILL MAKE DEMPSEY STEP

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Jan. 25.—Because there may be some reasons to be suspicious over what happened in Shelby last summer and because Tom Gibbons never has been able to get the credit he deserves as a great fighter, there is a disposition in boxing circles to figure that Dempsey wants to give Gibbons a return battle merely to get into real fighting shape for Firpo or Wills.

It is not impossible that Gibbons will give Dempsey more trouble than Firpo will when they meet again and it is almost a conviction that Dempsey will beat Wills quicker and with more ease than he will take Gibbons the next time.

Gibbons certainly learned something in his first contest with the champion and if he was not softened up by some of the hard punches he took in the body, it would be only logical to figure that Gibbons would do as well the second time in the ring as he did the first time.

Gibbons insists that he was not hurt by any body punches in the Shelby fight and that he was dazed once in the first round by a right hand punch to the head and once again, in the last round when Dempsey hit him in the groin.

Perhaps it would be safe to assume that Gibbons did have something taken out of him in that fight, as every fighter who has gone against Dempsey came out of it with a few permanent injuries.

Granting this point, it must be assumed for the same reasons, that Dempsey might have been softened a little, or more, perhaps, in his last fight with Firpo. Dempsey stopped a lot of solid punches to the head and the body and everyone knows that the South American could hit.

Ever since Dempsey and Gibbons fought fifteen rounds in Montana last summer it has been argued, chiefly by those who did not see the fight, that it was a "carry" and that Dempsey had reasons to restrain him from knocking out Gibbons and gambling on a decision. It is quite silly to suggest that Dempsey at any time "gambled" on the decision, because he had one of his best friends in the ring as the referee and Gibbons would have been forced to floor Dempsey three or four times a round to get the title on a decision.

Dempsey ought to be ashamed of himself when he tells that he was afraid he would be shot if he knocked out Gibbons. If there were all the dangerous gat-bearing cowboys there ready to drop him for hurting their idol, he would have been shot every time he fouled Gibbons and he did that a dozen times.

If he's the game fellow he seems to be and has given evidence of being, he would not have been intimidated by all the guns in the state, if there were any guns there. That's his part of the country. He should know that it isn't "bad country" out there and that there are no cases on record where a champion has been killed for knocking out a popular contender.

* * * * * * * * *

Down in his heart, Dempsey knows that he tried his best to bring Gibbons down and that he couldn't get to him with a solid punch. The champion looked invincible against Firpo but it must be remembered that every time he led, he landed on Firpo and Firpo went down. Gibbons would have gone down the same way and he would not have been physically able to get up off the floor as many times as the South American did. Dempsey, however, did not land on Gibbons with a good punch in the entire fifteen rounds and if Gibbons was fast enough then and clever enough to stay away from him then, there is no reason to believe that he has forgotten all his science in less than a year and has suffered a great physical decline.

FIGHT RESULTS

Buenos Aires, Jan. 25—"I'll knock out that Firpo in four rounds, I'm in great shape and ready to go," Farmer Lodge, Minnesota heavyweight, said on his arrival here. He is scheduled to meet Firpo Feb. 16, but he said he wanted it sooner than that.

Will Settle Differences

New York, Jan. 25.—Differences between Mike McTigue, world's light heavyweight champion, and his manager, Joe Jacobs, are expected to be settled soon and Tex Rickard hopes to match McTigue with Gene Tunney or Georges Carpentier.

Villa is Signed

New York, Jan. 25.—Articles for a 15 round bout against Georgie Marks, California flyweight, were signed by Frank Churchill, manager of Pancho Villa, world's champion. They are to meet in Madison Square Garden on Feb. 8.

Taylor in Chicago

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Bud Taylor, Terre Haute flash, arrived to complete training for his bout with Herbie Shafer at East Chicago. Taylor was matched to meet Johnny McCoy, Cleveland, at Youngstown, Ohio, Feb. 1. Six days later he will fight Eddie O'Dowd at Columbus, Ohio.

Goozeman, Sangor Working

Milwaukee, Jan. 25.—Ernie Goozeman and Joey Sangor, featherweights who meet here Monday night, were back at work training for their bout today after taking a rest yesterday. Both are down near the weight limit.

Burch, Lukes Draw

Janesville, Wis., Jan. 25.—Tony Lukes, Milwaukee, and Joe Burch, St. Paul, lightweights, fought 10 rounds to a draw here.

That Was Sufficient

When followers of the Illinois football team were unable to attend games and inquired of Bob Zuppke what the result was, the Illini coach merely replied, "Grange played."

Fake Daylight for Hens Favored by Specialists

With the price of eggs rising steadily poultrymen are taking every means of increasing their egg production. The use of lights, now generally accepted as good management if used in moderation, makes for this larger income, says a leaflet, "Use of Lights in Poultry House," published by the Ohio State university.

The lights make possible proper feeding, when the shortened fall and winter days make full feeding difficult; by using lights and making the day longer, it is possible for a hen to get her full ration and produce her full quota of eggs.

Lights may be turned on for the pullets from early October on, but it is best to withhold them from the old hens until they are well through the molt and in good flesh. Electric lights are most generally used, but any light which is convenient, moderate in cost and does not constitute a fire hazard will do.

A full feeding of grain should be available when lights are on. Unless there is a good mash and something to drink before the birds at all times, the lights are worthless.

Anna Q. Nilsson Seen As Man in "Ponjola"

Several motion picture producers discussing "Ponjola," Cynthia Stockley's famous story, after it had been announced that Sam E. Rork had purchased the story for the films, declared that the picture could never be made because no actress in films could successfully make up as a man.

But it turned out that they were all wrong. There was an actress that could make up as a man and pass as such. This was Anna Q. Nilsson, who plays the leading feminine role in "Ponjola," the First National picture which comes to the New Park on Saturday and Sunday.

IF——?

If you were a beautiful young woman—

If your wealth of curly blonde hair was the envy of every feminine eye—

And if you were called upon to make a price to have your hair cut off—

How much would you demand?

Anna Q. Nilsson, famed motion picture actress, asked $9,500.

And that price was paid to fair Anna by Sam E. Rork, producer of "Ponjola," a First National picture.

Vera Gordon, the actress who makes such a tenderly appealing figure of the mother in "Humoresque," playing at the Lyceum tonight only was engaged to play the role as the result of a lucky coincidence. Miss Gordon is an enthusiastic traveller and has explored practically every corner of the globe. She combines business with pleasure, accepting theatrical engagements abroad in order to become acquainted with foreign lands. In this way she has become mistress of six or seven different languages and is at home in Valdivostok, Honolulu, or New York.

"Humoresque" is the 6th Old Favorite to be shown at the Lyceum this week, and no doubt will play to packed houses tonight. Douglas Fairbanks will close the week Saturday, appearing in his best picture, "The Mark of Zorro."

Fairbanks at Best in "Mark of Zorro"

Never before has Douglas Fairbanks waxed so enthusiastic over the success and admiration of a picture than he has over "The Mark of "Zorro," his United Artists' production which will be the big attraction at the Lyceum theatre, Saturday only, and which is the 7th and last of the "Old Favorites."

OLYMPIC GAMES FORMALLY OPENED

Chamonix, France, Jan. 25.—The 1924 Olympic games were formally and officially opened here today.

Four hundred and eight athletes, representing 18 nations, took part in the opening parade lead by Austria, followed by Esthonia, the United States, France, Britain, Hungary, Italy, etc.

On behalf of the French government Gaston Vidal, leader of sports, declared the games open and read the traditional oath of fairness and loyalty delivered by the captain of the French military ski team.

FAWCETT LEADING SHOOTERS IN MEET AT HOUSTON TRAPS

Houston, Texas, Jan. 25—W. H. Fawcett of Robinsdale, Minn., continues to lead in the Sunny South shoot being conducted at the traps of the Houston Gun club, the captain of the American trap team having a score of 483 out of 500. Phil Miller of Dallas has broken one target less than Fawcett.

Only 100 targets were shot Wednesday as the rains in the afternoon caused a postponement of half of the day's program.

FLORIDA CHAMP BEATS MILL CITY MAN AT GOLF

Miami, Fla., Jan. 25—Favorites faded into the golfing shadows in the round before the semifinals of the fifth annual midwinter tournament on the Miami Country club course yesterday.

Dark horses raising havoc, Captain H. C. C. Tippett, former British amateur, now playing from the Lido Long Island club was the outstanding favorite to crash out of the champion 16. Leonard Hicks, of Chicago, former Illinois state champion, defeated him 5 and 3. Tippett and Dick Mullens, of Englewood, who tied for the qualifying medal Monday will engage in playoff during the week.

Millard Chase, of the Interlachen club, Minneapolis, struck a tartar in the person of T. W. Palmer, Florida state champion and lost, 4 to3.

Frightened.

Jimmy, who was inclined to be a braggart, was telling his father and mother of his experiences while out camping. "And all of once I stepped on a big rattlesnake," he began. "How did you know it was a rattlesnake, Jimmy?" asked his father. "I could hear its teeth chattering the minute it saw me."

Something to Remember
Real Good Gravy

Don't forget that the secret of making real, good gravy is KITCHEN BOUQUET. Purely a vegetable product, it makes real, good gravy of any gravy stock, bringing out its full flavor and giving it a deep, rich brown color.

Add a tablespoonful just before taking off the stove.

Don't forget KITCHEN BOUQUET, use it often—probably you have it in your pantry, if not, ask your grocer for it.
